

Abstract of the Disclosure

Techniques for enabling existing and new services and for configuring one or more of the services to instantiate an application which is readily accessible to a dynamically-formed group of interested participants at the appointed time for a desired duration are disclosed.

5